Memorial Day, a solemn day for Americans to remember those who died in order to protect our freedom to enjoy days such as this, peacefully in this great country. But many Americans may not know the history of Memorial Day and how it came to be a national holiday.

Here are five things you need to know about Memorial Day:

1. Memorial Day originated from Americans honoring those who lost their lives in the Civil War.
2. Memorial Day was first known as "Decoration Day."
3. The first Decoration Day ceremony occurred in 1868 at Arlington National Cemetery.
4. Memorial Day was initially a holiday observed in the states before it became a federally recognized holiday. The federal government allowed their workers to have the day off in 1882, but for everyone else it was a state holiday. The first state to adopt the holiday was New York in 1873.
5. On December 28, 2000, President Bill Clinton signed into a law an act that recognized 3 p.m. local time as the National Moment of Remembrance on Memorial Day. It's also worth noting that American flags begin the day at half-mast and are then raised to full mast at noon, where they remain until dusk.
